

Symmes Elementary Recognizes the National Weather Service

9/11/2008

Students and faculty from Symmes Elementary in Riverview, FL brought two baskets filled with goodies to the National Weather Service (NWS) in Ruskin to thank them for their work in public safety. The NWS was just one of numerous stops for the Elementary school which does this each year on the anniversary of the tragic events of September 11, 2001. The students received a brief tour and many thanks from the employees in the office.
